

Plan for your surgery

Talk to your doctor about:

After your surgery

Let your doctor know if you have any questions or concerns before surgery. This includes asking about the effectiveness of the anesthesia you will be using. You may be able to take some steps to reduce your risk of complications. Ask your doctor about these options. They may include:

Let your doctor know if you have any questions or concerns before surgery. This includes asking about the effectiveness of the anesthesia you will be using. You may be able to take some steps to reduce your risk of complications. Ask your doctor about these options. They may include:

Special considerations for COVID-19 pandemic

Find out about the hospital's or surgical facility's pandemic-related safety procedures, including:

Whether you are a patient or a family member, you should be informed about the hospital's or surgical facility's pandemic-related safety procedures. This includes asking about the effectiveness of the anesthesia you will be using. You may be able to take some steps to reduce your risk of complications. Ask your doctor about these options. They may include:

Whether you are a patient or a family member, you should be informed about the hospital's or surgical facility's pandemic-related safety procedures. This includes asking about the effectiveness of the anesthesia you will be using. You may be able to take some steps to reduce your risk of complications. Ask your doctor about these options. They may include:

The goal of Speak Up™ is to help patients and their advocates become active in their care.

Speak Up™ materials are intended for the public and have been put into a simplified (i.e., easy-to-read) format to reach a wider audience. They are not meant to be comprehensive statements of standards interpretation or other accreditation requirements, nor are they intended to represent evidence-based clinical practices or clinical practice guidelines. Thus, care should be exercised in using the content of Speak Up™ materials. Speak Up™ materials are available to all health care organizations; their use does not indicate that an organization is accredited by The Joint Commission.